

The 'This Is What An Activist' campaign launch coincides with the International Day of the Older Persons.

The campaign shows people from all walks of life can make a change in their communities. and help fight climate change.

1. Show the 'This Is What An Activist Looks Like' film to children and ask these questions:

- What do you know about climate change?
- What kind of activity could you do to fight climate change?
- What kind of older person will you be? What kinds of activities will you do? Do you think you'll still be interested in some of the same things?
- Bring in a picture of you and an older person that's important in your life
- Does an older person in your life do something unusual or that you admire?

2. Show the activists 'hero cards' and encourage children to draw their own activist on page six.

#ThisIsWhatAnActivistLooksLike

ACTIVISTS

Name: Dorretta

Special skills:

- Protestor
- Litter picker
- Gardener

ACTIVISTS

Name: Sam

Special skills:

- Campaigner
- Writer
- Debater

ACTIVISTS

Name: Abbie

Special skills:

- Cycling champion
- Great talker to help spread the message!

ACTIVISTS

Name: Chris

Special skills:

- Keen gardener
- Convinces neighbours to get involved and join him gardening

ACTIVISTS

Draw your own activist: what would they look like?
What special skills would they have to fight climate change?

Name:

Age:

Special skills: